

Destination Freedom

2010

Wednesday, April 7, 3:30 – 8:30pm

Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking is happening on every inhabited continent today. An estimated 27,000,000 Women, Men, Girls and Boys are held in bondage through force, fraud and coercion.

Come learn about abolition efforts and see how you can get involved.

CALL FOR STUDENT PRESENTATIONS

"Students are going to be leading this, clearly"

- Kevin Bales, HTS Video Interview, Oct. 2009

Students are invited to present their past, on-going or imminent work (research, project, internship, travel abroad experience, student group, advocacy or other activities in support of abolition) related to modern slavery/trafficking in 5-10 minute presentations. Submit a short (less than 1 page) description of your proposed presentation to humantraffickingstudents@gmail.com including your name, schooling info and contact info by March 26th. The student organizing board will review your proposed presentation and respond with an acceptance or denial on a flow basis. Please see the event website for details.

SPONSORED BY

Gordon College Abolition Movement (GCAM) - Boston College Rallying Efforts Against Contemporary Slavery (REACT) - Tufts PANGEA Committee on Modern Day Slavery - Harvard College For Free The Slaves (HCFTS) - and Human Trafficking Students (HTS)

humantraffickingstudents@gmail.com

<http://destinationfreedom.webs.com/>

The event is free and open to the public

- Presentations from local practitioners, law enforcement, and academics
- Student presentations
- Booths hosted by student groups, NGOs, advocacy organizations, artists, and business

Where

Harvard College
Student Organization Center
at Hilles Radcliffe Quadrangle,
Harvard University
59 Shepard St., Cambridge

(10-15 minute walk from Harvard or Porter T-station, see website for travel info)

When

Wednesday, April 7th
3:30 – 8:30pm